

The Marvelous Wilson Heater

The Ideal Home Warmer. The Perfect Stove.

*Consumes
the Least Fuel*

THE DOWN DRAFT.

YOU can form an idea of the strength of this draft from the fact that a fire can be built backwards, that is, put coal in first, then wood and paper. Light the paper—the stove will do the rest. The Hot Blast acts like a bellows, blowing the flame through the fuel and igniting it so quickly that a cold room can be warmed in five minutes.

YEARS of experimenting—eliminating the objectionable features and accepting only those which benefit—have resulted in the WILSON HEATER, which is now conceded to be perfection in stove building—the ideal home warmer and the best heater offered to-day.

We Make This Assertion—We Can Prove Its Truth

In the ordinary heater the draft enters from the front at the bottom of the stove and only about 60 per cent of the heating properties of the fuel are utilized by this method.

In the WILSON HEATER the Hot Blast Down Draft (illustration on right) enters from the top, igniting and utilizing as fuel all gases and smoke which usually go to waste. This explains why the Wilson Heater consumes less fuel than other stoves and is therefore more economical. The fire in the Wilson is under such perfect control that there is no difficulty in keeping an even temperature in your rooms. It will keep a fire for 36 hours without attention. The celebrated DOWN DRAFT supplies just the proper amount of oxygen, heated to the right temperature when it enters the fire, so that the combustion is perfect and the entire stove radiates heat, instead of just the top of the stove, as is the case in others. These are some of the reasons of the wonderful success of the Wilson Heater. Following are the prices:

COAL STOVES

$10.50 $12.50 $14.50 $15.00 $17.00 $18.00 $20.00 $22.00 $24.00 — $4.50 $5.50 $6.50 $7.50 $8.50 $9.50

WOOD STOVES

$5.50 $6.50 $7.50 $8.50 $9.50

The Mechanical Construction

The Wilson Heater is simply made—no complex parts to get out of order. It is made both for burning wood or coal. The latter have a sectional fire pot—each section being interchangeable so that if one burns out it can be replaced without getting an entirely new fire pot. The grates are extra heavy. All Wilson Heaters have a heavy steel lining extending from top to bottom. The parts which usually wear out first have been strengthened—in fact, it is as near perfect as is possible.

Be Sure You Get a Wilson

When something is better than the rest of its kind it is imitated—this is true of the Wilson Heater. When you buy a stove be sure you are getting a Wilson. Call and let us show you its merits.

BRIDE ELECT BALKS AT LICENSE OFFICE

Overcome by bashfulness she flees, but is overtaken by prospective husband and persuaded to return.

Cupid almost failed in fulfilling a compact with Hyacin yesterday through the temporary backwardness of a bullet-headed official. The bride-to-be was bound while the clerk in the office of the Register of Deeds was busy filling the blanks of the license of marriage.

The timid applicant was Mrs. Sophia Ruth, 21, daughter of Dr. George Ruth, whose wife was John Ruth of No. 126 Gardner Avenue.

Ruth followed by Mrs. Madie Brederup and William H. Parker, young Miss Ruth's escort, were overjoyed at the news that the ceremony was about to begin. They had been taken to the office of William H. Parker, 21, son of Dr. Parker, who had failed to follow the train.

The chase attracted the attention of many employees and visitors and was the subject of much merriment. Finally the bride reached the City Hall just after the induction ceremony.

The report accepted here is that the wife of Dr. Ruth, Etilda, Mrs. Ruth, was examining the records of the office before the marriage was about to take place. They included, however, the mother of the bride, Mrs. Ruth, who had been called to the office.

The chase attracted the attention of many employees and visitors and was the subject of much merriment. Finally the bride reached the City Hall just after the induction ceremony.

At the home of Mrs. Parker's sister, Mrs. Ruth, the bride-to-be was waiting for the bridal party to return and a feast had been prepared for the wedding guests. The bride-to-be had failed to appear at the wedding breakfast, however, and many visitors to the home of the bride-to-be were surprised to learn that she had been given a complete change of clothes.
